Fauna is all of the animal life present in a particular region or time. The corresponding term for plants is flora. Flora, fauna and other forms of life such as fungi are collectively referred to as biota. Zoologists and paleontologists use fauna to refer to a typical collection of animals found in a specific time or place, e.g. the "Sonoran Desert fauna" or the "Burgess Shale fauna".

The marine fauna, fish, and shellfish commonly used for diet, are low in saturated fat, but high in omega-3 fatty acids; and consumption of them lowers cholesterol in the blood and thus, the risk of heart disease. Fish consumption improves blood circulation and reduces the risk of thrombosis (formation of blood clots inside blood vessels).
